Data collection and statistical analysis of the dairy cattle catch-and-release program and a comparison between catch and deadstock removal. Our objective was to reduce the capture rate of dairy cattle (4- to 10-yr-old) and improve stock health by using cow triage at a dairy catch-and-release program on a single farm in the Midwest. We developed two control programs (C1 and C2) that (1) used tapered movement restrictions and (2) released dairy cattle to an outdoor holding pen or pasture with the goal of minimizing C1 and C2 capture rate as compared with C3, which was a no-restriction program. We compared the release rates, cow survival rates, and the numbers of days off feed between treatments by a paired t-test. C1 release rates were 0.13 (+/-0.07) per person-time (ppt), C2 release rates were 0.12 (+/-0.04) ppt, and C3 release rates were 0.15 (+/-0.03) ppt. C3 survival rates were 0.30 (+/-0.15) and C1 and C2 survival rates were 0.66 (+/-0.18) and 0.69 (+/-0.15), respectively. The C1 capture rate was significantly ($P = 0.022$) lower than C2 and C3 (0.56 vs. 0.88 and 1.01, respectively). The mean number of days off feed for cows released to C1 (24.4 +/- 8.3), C2 (22.4 +/- 8.3), and C3 (27.8 +/- 8.6) were significantly (P Atrial natriure d0c515b9f4

Evaluating $\lim_{x \rightarrow \infty} \left(\frac{\sqrt{(x+1)^2 + x^2}}{x+1} + \frac{\sqrt{(x-1)^2 + x^2}}{x-1} \right)$ I am given the following limit: $\lim_{x \rightarrow \infty} \left(\frac{\sqrt{(x+1)^2 + x^2}}{x+1} + \frac{\sqrt{(x-1)^2 + x^2}}{x-1} \right)$ I tried solving using L'Hôpital's rule, but I get the zero limit. I have checked Wolfram alpha, and the result is 0 , but they didn't give the reasoning behind why their answer is zero. Is there another way to evaluate this limit? A: Since the numerators are positive and the denominators are positive, you have $0 \leq \lim_{x \rightarrow \infty} \frac{\sqrt{x^2 + x^2}}{x} = \lim_{x \rightarrow \infty} \frac{x}{\sqrt{x^2 + x^2}} \leq \lim_{x \rightarrow \infty} \frac{x}{x} \rightarrow 0$.

The Kinfolks, in their attempt to trust the non-Kinfolks, ran across a very old trust problem that had never been resolved. In the early years of the colonization, all human beings worked together in harmony. The decision was always made jointly. However, after a time, as the non-
